

Megablunders 7

1. Harry decided that either we would go to the picnic in one car or drive in separate cars.
2. When the wind comes over the mountain, causing snow to fly into hikers' eyes and freezing their hair.
3. Roberta outlined her paper carefully, wrote a decent first draft, and took all suggestions into consideration when she produced her final draft, which made her essay a success.
4. Herman, along with his family, go to the same restaurant every Saturday; their status as "regulars" has earned them a coveted corner table in the Rainforest Room.
5. Coach Stevens gave a great halftime speech to the team, despite his enthusiasm, the players got pasted by the opposition, 55 – 3.
6. The committee decided to give the award to whoever deserved it most; that person turned out to be Hermione.
7. Waiting for the bus from Omaha to arrive, the lobby of the bus station was quiet and still, with only the muted singing of the shoeshine boy breaking the silence.
8. The engine repair class is going very well; all we need is a real car to rebuild right down to the hubcaps, since us students are ready to put our knowledge to good use.

9. Bob is the only one of those workers who have the courage to confront his tyrannical boss.

10. Patricia only gave me five tickets for the air show, when I specifically told her I needed seven, one for me and six for my cousins visiting from Topeka
